AND RECOMMENDED REPLACEMENT

07.01.2020

In the process of refining NLS products with ever-evolving technology and innovative design, changes are inevitable. Because NLS commits to providing the most efficient lighting solution, our designers and engineers review, improve and remove products that are outperformed by newer ones—often with better lumen packages, improved reliability, optics, quick install features, better costing, and technology advancements. NLS is dedicated to offering only the best products with the highest application efficiency.

We understand there may be challenges with existing projects or future expansions that require re-ordering, our customer service and sales teams will collaborate in recommending a better-performing product match for your project. Our promise is to continue providing you with American made, high grade quality products.
